The island of Sumatra is one of 13, 000 islands that make up the country of Indonesia. In the northern-central part of Sumatra live the Batak peoples, who collectively comprise around four million people, making them one of the largest ethnic groups in that country which hosts over three hundred distinct ethnolinguistic minorities.

Indigenous Peoples of the World — The Karo Batak

The term Greater India is most commonly used to encompass the historical and geographic extent of all political entities of the Indian subcontinent, and the regions which are culturally linked to India or received significant Indian cultural influence. These countries have to varying degrees been transformed by the acceptance and induction of cultural and institutional elements of India.
