Liber Abaci (also spelled as Liber Abbaci) ("The Book of Calculation") is a 1202 historic book on arithmetic by Leonardo of Pisa, posthumously known as Fibonacci. Liber Abaci was among the first Western books to describe the Hindu–Arabic numeral system and to use symbols traditionally described as "Arabic numerals". By addressing the applications of both commercial tradesmen and ...

The last three decades of standards-based education reform in the United States have been based in part on the argument that the content of teachers' instruction is an important determinant of students' learning. This assumption is a primary rationale for the creation of state and Common Core content standards, which specify the particular skills and knowledge students are to acquire and ...
